

		Expert Engineer	Senior Engineer
Leadership and entrepreneurship	Collaboration	1. Be open to work with others in the daily job and active to offer support to others, demonstrate teamwork spirit 2. Be able to leverage networks with diverse stakeholders to identify new partnership opportunities even in uncertain/complex environment 3. Consistently keeps others informed, initiates active knowledge exchange and considers others' concerns and opinions when creating solutions 4. Applies suitable tools to enhance virtual collaboration 5. Inspires and motivates others to contribute to common goals and to step out of comfort zones 6. Initiates collaborative decision-making processes and champions win-win solutions 7. Flexible with team/customer working methodology and process	1. Be open to work with others in the daily job and active to offer support to others, demonstrate teamwork spirit 2. Be able to leverage networks with diverse stakeholders to identify new partnership opportunities even in uncertain/complex environment 3. Consistently keeps others informed, initiates active knowledge exchange and considers others' concerns and opinions when creating solutions 4. Applies suitable tools to enhance virtual collaboration 5. Inspires and motivates others to contribute to common goals and to step out of comfort zones 6. Initiates collaborative decision-making processes and champions win-win solutions 7. Flexible with team/customer working methodology and process
	Driving Innovation	1. Be able to finish personal job and generate new ideas for solving the issues independently and contribute to IP 2. Embraces and uses new digital technologies and new working methods to solve problems 3. Has some application experience in complex environments (some interdependencies, variables, uncertainties) 4. Coach/Guide others embrace and use new ways to solve problems or do innovations	1. Be able to finish personal job and generate new ideas for solving the issues independently and lead IP's contribution 2. Create, embraces and uses new digital technologies and new working methods to solve problems 3. Has profound application experience in complex environments (some interdependencies, variables, uncertainties) 4. Coach/Guide others embrace and use new ways to solve problems or do innovations 5. Has a clear understanding of the digital vision and actively spreads it
	Coaching & Developing Others	1. Coaches and empowers people to establishes an agile and learning culture 2. Builds up digital domain knowhow and technical competencies for the project team 3. Be able to explain the positive impact of own work/project to others and inspire the motivation of others	1. Coaches and empowers people to establishes an agile and learning culture 2. Builds up digital domain knowhow and technical competencies for the project team 3. Be able to explain the positive impact of own work/project to others and inspire the motivation of others
	Communication	1. Could deliver message clearly and logically independently 2. Be able to use appropriate method to deliver a presentation with complex topics with clear structure not only to technical colleagues but also to management level 3. Understand business complexity, familiar with stakeholder analysis, deliver right message to right person	1. Could deliver message clearly and logically independently 2. Be able to use appropriate method to deliver a presentation with complex topics with clear structure not only to technical colleagues but also to management level 3. Understand business complexity, familiar with stakeholder analysis, deliver right message to right person

Leadership and entrepreneurship	Business Acumen	1. Understands own business area within the T 2. Could collect, analyze and provide meaningful insight for certain topics independently, and create valuable business proposals with good feedback 3. Quickly recognizes the merits and flaws of business propositions and processes; identifies information gaps and/or needs for deeper analysis 4. Understands industry/market, and obtains a general view on its drivers, challenges, key competitors, customer structures, their portfolios and business models	1. Understands own business area within the T 2. Could collect, analyze and provide meaningful insight for certain topics independently, and create valuable business proposals with good feedback 3. Quickly recognizes the merits and flaws of business propositions and processes; identifies information gaps and/or needs for deeper analysis 4. Understands industry/market, and obtains a general view on its drivers, challenges, key competitors, customer structures, their portfolios and business models
	Driving Change	1. Could provide some valuable ideas independently (even in uncertain environment) and have ability to put the ideas on the ground 2. Understands and communicates changes – Actively seeks various information to understand the background of changes and rightly deliver to team members 3. Facing changes with a positive mindset – Treats new situations as opportunities for learning or growth; actively seeks to identify and communicate the benefits of changes; collaborates with others to implement changes 4. Adjusts behavior – Quickly modifies daily behavior and tries new approaches to deal effectively with changes; does not persist with ineffective methods; leverages available resources to ease transition	1. Could provide some valuable ideas independently (even in uncertain environment) and have ability to put the ideas on the ground 2. Understand and communicate changes – Actively seeks various information to understand the background of changes and rightly deliver to team members 3. Facing changes with a positive mindset – Treats new situations as opportunities for learning or growth; actively seeks to identify and communicate the benefits of changes; collaborates with others to implement changes 4. Actively drive change – Creates momentum by taking immediate action and encouraging others to act and support implementation; breaks down cultural and operational barriers to change; recognizes and rewards those who contribute to change efforts 5. Manage the change in a systematic way, especially in customer project, "YES" in not always a good answer
Business domain	Technology trend & related business impact	1. Follows the latest technological developments/inventions proactively and tries to experiment with new technologies. Deeply understanding of suitable scenario of different technology, new tech is not always best solution for engineering project 2. Knows domain-specific standards and regulations of own domain and can apply or use them as appropriate 3. Is aware of the impact of future business from upcoming domain-specific standards and regulations	1. Follows the latest technological developments/inventions proactively and tries to experiment with new technologies. Deeply understanding of suitable scenario of different technology, new tech is not always best solution for engineering project 2. Has extensive experience with own domain in applying or defining relevant domain-specific standards and regulations 3. Is actively involved in the adaptation of domain-specific standards and regulations to the processes and products in own organization 4. Proposes alternative solutions in one's own business/functional unit by providing business cases using the latest technological developments

Business domain	Understanding of Siemens businesses, products, solutions & services	1. Has detailed knowledge of the strategies and plans of market players to which Siemens business/products/solutions/services belong to 2. Has extensive experience in developing or using Siemens business, products or solutions and be able to contribute to improvement of products or solutions 3. Understands the functions and technical principles of various products comprehensively 4. Knows the products of the competitors and their advantages and disadvantages in detail 5. Is aware of trends/developments, incl. risks and opportunities, outside the core market	1. Has detailed knowledge of the strategies and plans of market players to which Siemens business/products/solutions/services belong to 2. Has extensive experience in developing or using Siemens business, products or solutions and be able to contribute to improvement of products or solutions 3. Understands the functions and technical principles of various products comprehensively 4. Knows the products of the competitors and their advantages and disadvantages in detail 5. Is aware of trends/developments, incl. risks and opportunities, outside the core market
	End customer applications	1. Thinks from the customer's perspective and proactively seeks to fulfill the customer's requirements at a high level of quality in particular service 2. Willingly initiates innovative actions beyond standard service business practice in the interest of the customer in a professional manner 3. Identifies and develops best practices for working with or adding value for the customer in the service business 4. Guide clients to stretch beyond comfort zone	1. Thinks from the customer's perspective and proactively seeks to fulfill the customer's requirements at a high level of quality in particular service 2. Willingly initiates innovative actions beyond standard service business practice in the interest of the customer in a professional manner 3. Identifies and develops best practices for working with or adding value for the customer in the service business 4. Guide clients to stretch beyond comfort zone 5. Identifies and seizes opportunities to consult customers' top levels in order to improve performance and build lasting relationships
	Market understanding, e.g., competitors, alternative technology	1. Has a broad overview of all players, their offerings, strategies and motives 2. Understands the differences between the offerings of the most important players and assesses the reaction of market players to them 3. Understands and explains technical functions of used components comprehensively 4. Is aware of implications for one's own activities from market knowledge (e.g., innovation portfolio, roadmap, etc.)	1. Has a detailed overview of all players, their offerings, strategies and motives and anticipate trends and developments early 2. Understands the differences between the offerings of the most important players and assesses the reaction of market players to them 3. Understands and explains technical functions of used components comprehensively 4. Derives implications for RG's activities from market knowledge (e.g., innovation portfolio, roadmap, etc.) 5. Through the understanding of market trends to provide alternative technologies